

TWO SAY ELWYN'S BREATH SMELLED OF LIQUOR AFTER HIS CAR KILLED WOLVEN

Dr. Downer and Superintendent So Testify at Inquest—Woman Boarder Asserts the Two Men Were Crossing to Right Side of Road When Hit—Other Testimony to Effect That They Were Close to Rail.

An inquest to determine the circumstances surrounding the death of Charles Wolven at Woodstock last Friday night, when he was struck and killed by an automobile owned and driven by Fred Elwyn, was held at the court house Wednesday afternoon by Coroner Norvin R. Lasher of Saugerties. The examination of witnesses was conducted by District Attorney Traver and after a number of witnesses had been examined, the matter was adjourned for further hearing until Thursday, October 22. Dr. James Krom of Saugerties and Mortimer B. Downer of Woodstock, who performed an autopsy on Mr. Wolven's body on Saturday afternoon, testified to the condition they found. Both the head and body were bruised and cut. There was a compound fracture of the skull and Dr. Krom said the skull had been crushed "just as if it had been squeezed." There was a hole in the skull over the left eye, a fracture at the base of the skull and the bones, said Dr. Downer, had been broken into small pieces. There was also a fracture of the spine, a hole in the left kneecap, and both shoulders were bruised. In their opinion, death was caused by fracture of the skull, laceration of the brain tissue and shock.

Dr. Downer, who had gone to the scene of the accident immediately after it happened, said he found Mr. Wolven's body lying on its left side, the head toward Woodstock and the feet toward Saugerties. The accident occurred near the Oscar Mosher property, which borders the highway which ascends at a steep grade from the Riesel boarding house to the village.

The body was carried from the highway to grass alongside the highway by Dr. Downer and his son. A cake which Mr. Wolven had carried in the roadway and there was a dark streak on the road extending diagonally from the cake to the body. Dr. Downer thought Mr. Wolven probably lived two or three minutes after he was struck. He was about 55 years old, 63 inches in height and weighed 185 pounds.

Fred Elwyn was there, said Dr. Downer, and said he had struck Mr. Wolven with his car; that Mr. Wolven had stepped directly in front of the car and he couldn't help hitting him. He could not say that Elwyn was intoxicated, but his breath smelled of liquor.

Superintendent John H. Harrison of the Kingston water works testified he was on his way to Woodstock when he heard of the accident and he went to the scene, reaching there about ten minutes before eight o'clock. There was a large spot of blood on the road opposite the place where the body had been removed to the grass, and about two feet from the railing which borders the state road. There was also a bloody mark extending diagonally across the roadway from the place where the body lay when the automobile stopped to the cake which Mr. Wolven had been carrying. The cake was on the right side of the road as one approached Woodstock from the railroad, and from 70 to 75 feet from the place where the body lay.

Later in the evening Mr. Harrison saw the Elwyn automobile in front of the Irvington. The head of the car was on the right side of the road, and there were slight dentures on the right fender and on the hood of the car. He had talked with Percy Hill, who said that as he was walking with Mr. Wolven, they were on the right side of the road when they were struck. Mr. Harrison said that Mr. Wolven had been walking on the right side of the road but he did not see whether he had heard the automobile horn sound or whether he saw the lights. He stopped out in the road in front of the car. Mr. Harrison did not say that Elwyn was intoxicated, but he smelled liquor on his breath.

Mr. Harrison said he was concerned as to what was in that position. The road runs alongside the road and about four feet from the road. Mr. Harrison testified his property was about 200 feet from the top of the hill and the road railing ends about 100 feet from his house. When the accident occurred, Mr. Harrison was sitting in his kitchen window and saw the car coming. He saw the car was struck. He heard a crash, a car coming, and saw the lights flash, then heard the car skidding, and saw the car skidding a little, then went out to see what was going on. The car had been driven from the top of the hill, and he saw it arrive and somebody get out of the car and somebody else get out of the car. Mr. Harrison thought the driver was Mr. Elwyn, but somebody

U. & D. GRANTED 5 CENTS A MILE

Public Service Commission Approves That It Is Entitled to Higher Passenger Rate Because of Heavy Operating Costs—Deficit Claimed For First Half of 1920.

By Telegram to The Freeman. Albany, Oct. 20.—The Public Service Commission, Second District, yesterday granted authority to the Ulster & Delaware Railroad Company to file, on three days' notice, new passenger fare schedules establishing fare rates not exceeding five cents a mile, minimum single fare 10 cents, for travel on its line, effective for one year and thereafter until the further order of the Commission.

The railroad which operates principally between Oneonta and Kingston, a distance of about 130 miles, asked permission to increase its rates within the state fares from 3 to 5 cents a mile, it being limited to 3 cents a mile by an order of the Commission in 1914. The company recently increased its freight rates and the Interstate Commerce Commission has consented to the higher passenger rate for interstate travel. Chairman Charles B. Hill, in the Commission's order, says the reasons why the road requires a higher rate of fare than the average railroad are apparent to anyone who is familiar with the property and they were enlarged upon by a witness in his description of its location and construction. The road lies almost entirely in the Catskill mountains, with very heavy grades and sharp curves. The entire region is described as being of a broken nature, high elevation, serrated profile and sinuous alignment, one witness stating that the situation with regard to curvature, altitudes and gradients is not equalled in the state.

Evidence was given showing an operating deficit for the first six months in 1920. Based on an estimated rate of return of 4.18 per cent, with the increased rates, the Commission's order says: "Upon this showing the application would seem to be meritorious and should be granted unless we can foresee an early and radical change in economical conditions which will substantially increase the gross income. Indications are that the mounting costs of operations have now seen their apex and have started upon a steady decline, but in view of the moderate return which apparently will be available even with a considerable change in conditions we can see no ground upon which the relief asked for can properly be withheld."

CLUETT, PEABODY ON PART TIME

By Telegram to The Freeman. Cluett, Peabody and company, incorporated, the largest suit and collar manufacturing concern in the world, Wednesday informed the 5,000 workers in its Troy factories that starting today, its plants will be operated on two-thirds time. Employees were notified not to report for further duty until Monday morning after finishing work today.

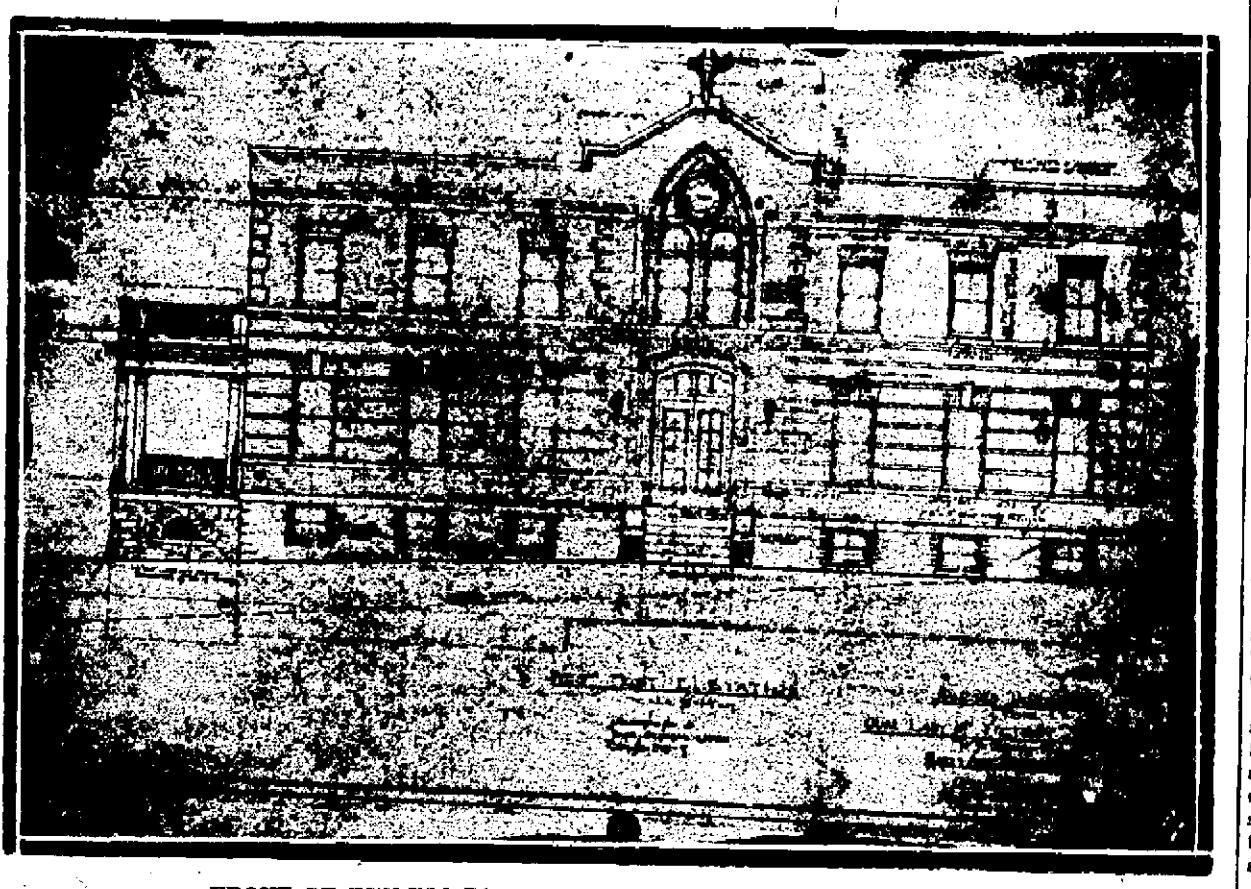

While work has slackened to a considerable extent in the shirt factories within the fortnight, following announcement of the manufacturers of big reduction in the wholesale prices of the product, the announcement of a reduction in working hours was a shock to the employees, nine-tenths of whom are women.

The order means a cut of from $5 to $12 weekly in the pay envelopes of the girl workers.

Million Leases Wall Street Store. Henry Million of Lexington, Greene county, where he owns a large summer boarding house, has leased the store at 284 Wall street, formerly occupied by John J. McCabe as a cafe. Mr. Million is a former resident at one time conducting the Hotel Eicher on Railroad avenue, and for some time the Opera Cafe, Wall street, where he conducted a business men's lunch room. Mr. Million will open his new place of business on Saturday, and will move his family back to town and reopen his lunch room.

$38,500 NURSES' DORMITORY TO BE BUILT NEAR MAIN BENEDICTINE SANITARIUM BUILDING

Will Be 35 by 65 Feet, Two Stories High, and Modernly Adapted to its Purpose—Extremely Worthy Institution Still Needs $8,000—Some of Those Who Are Helping Make New Quarters Possible.

FRONT OF BEN EDICTINE SANITARIUM NEW NURSES' HOME. From the architect's drawing, showing the west elevation fronting on the street.

After serving the needs of the community for about twenty years, with efficiency and merciful kindness to sick and disabled people of the city and county, the Benedictine Sanitarium management is to be congratulated upon the fact that it is now ready to erect a very large, commodious, up-to-date, and absolutely modern nurses' dormitory as a much needed addition to the Benedictine Sanitarium itself. This new building, 35 by 65 feet in area and two stories high, will cost $38,500, and already the plans and specifications as prepared by Architect George E. Lowe, have been accepted, and the contracts signed as follows: The general contract to Elmer Swart of Elmendorf street, with William McLaughlin as mason and Frank P. Messinger as painter. The plans have been approved by the State Department and the registration will take effect immediately.

The erection of this building will mean a newer and a wider field of activities for the Sanitarium, which has been doing such noble work in the community all these years. The necessity for the enlargement of the institution has become imperative because of the numbers of patients, medical and surgical, seeking admission to its care, and because of the numbers of convalescent patients waiting sufficient recovery to be permitted to go to their homes.

It will be recalled that originally the Sanitarium was erected by the Benedictine Sisters at a cost of some $35,000 without making any demand upon the people of the community in a financial way. So cordially and kindly have the sick and afflicted of both our city and county been received and cared for, that the institution with its big charity wards has gained the affection of the people of the entire community, and undoubtedly all will feel it a privilege to help defray the remaining expense, over and above present contributions, toward its completion, as an inadequate expression of gratitude for the good offices of the institution during the past years.

Some of the funds necessary for this work were raised in a campaign carried on five years ago: $15,000 was contributed by the Archdiocese of New York from the "Charities Drive" of this last spring; and contributions of $1,000 each have been received from John H. Schoonmaker, Dwyer Brothers and the Benedictine Sisters of Elizabeth, N. J. There is still a deficit of $5,000, which a grateful people will surely wipe out in short order, for it should be realized that in the care of the sick and of any community the well must do their part, else those so unfortunate as to become ill must pay an exorbitant disproportionate share toward the maintenance of such institutions as any of us may be called upon to enter at any time.

The new nurses' dormitory, an eighteen-room brick structure, will be erected on the small lot north of the Sanitarium building proper. It will have a commanding and inspiring view of the Catskill mountains, and being quite separate (except for a covered passage way in case of storms) from the main institution it will afford a rest and relaxation for the nurses from the nervous strain of immediate presence at all times, in the building with invalids, so absolutely necessary to the most efficient work of the nurse. Every necessary, every comfort, even every home entertainment for the student nurses and superintendents will be provided for in the new dormitory. The following is a description of the building as given The Freeman by Architect Lowe: The two-story and basement building will have its exterior walls brick laid in patterns with the foundation walls above grade, rock faced of local blue stone to harmonize with the main building of the institution. On the first floor one will enter a large reception hall with cornice and pilasters. The floor will be of composition in imitation of tile. The stairway leading to the floor above will be absolutely fireproof, of iron with treads of the composition to match the flooring of the reception hall. The rear exit of the hall will be upon the lawn. To the right as one enters the building at the front, a corridor will serve the sleeping apartments on this floor and there will also be a large bathroom and linen closet. To the left of the reception hall will be the living quarters. There will be a reception room, a library and large living room, 15 by 33 feet, with open fire-place and beam ceiling. These floors will be hard wood floors. Adjoining the living room will be a class room with folding partitions between the two, which may be opened up for the class room work. In the class room will be found closets, an electric range, refrigerator, sink, in fact all that is or may be required in such a nurses' class room. Off the living room will be a private porch, 10 by 29 feet in dimensions.

On the second floor a center corridor will run the entire length of the building. The main bath will be on this floor, containing built-in tubs, showers, shampoo attachments, in fact all that goes to make the most modern equipped bath rooms of our time. The floors and walls will be of ceramic tile, and there will be a very large linen closet. Then there will be large toilet rooms, quite separate from the bath rooms. The night nurses' sleeping rooms and the head nurses' rooms with connecting baths will also be on this floor, and whether the regular nurses' sleeping rooms on either floor be single or double, each nurse will have her own closet. On the second floor a balcony will extend over the first story porch, and connect with the corridor, and on each floor there will be a janitor's closet and sanitary sink.

The floors of all corridors, halls, toilet rooms, linen closets and class room are of sanitary composition flooring, while those in the bed and living rooms are of hard wood. The trim throughout the building is of Tennessee chestnut. A modern vapor, vacuum, pressure system of heating will be installed, thus giving control of the heat in the rooms at the radiators. Necessary hot water facilities of the most modern device will also be provided. Throughout the entire building there will be the most approved electric lighting equipment as there will be in each bath room every modern convenience. The trunk room will be in the basement. It will be a very large room, and the building will present a handsome appearance exteriorly, adding greatly to the general effort of comfort and efficiency of the entire institution.

Already the brick for the walls has been entirely contributed by the following persons and a public expression of gratitude for the same is hereby given: Washburn Brothers, Saugerties; Robert Munn, Saugerties; Philip Gedrick, Gedrick's Landing; Row Brothers, Lynch Brothers; T. F. and A. T. Washburn; Hendricks Brick Company; Thomas Mowery; Brinkham Brothers; Stephen Brick Company; Terry Brothers; The Nation Company.

Like expressions of gratitude and appreciation are also extended to the Benedictine Sisters of the Holy Cross Hospital, who have donated the land on which the building is to be erected, and to the St. Vincent Hospital, Poughkeepsie, who have donated the land on which the building is to be erected.

E. T. McGill for the trucking of the brick to the building site; to Dwyer Brothers for the use of their brick barge and trucks; to the Cornell Steamboat Company for towing the brick; and to Edward F. Malia for contributing his services in the superintending of the work.

While all this work for the comfort and added efficiency of the nurses of the Sanitarium is going on, the institution will be also carrying on its progressive spirit in that there will be added improvements in the main building for the increased comfort of patients, some of which will, of course be incidental to the removal of the nurses to their new quarters, and other features of which will be a part of the customary forward look and movement of the Benedictine Sanitarium as a whole.

IRISH WELCOME TO UNITED STATES

By Telegram to The Freeman. Washington, Oct. 21.—Under Secretary of State Davis today denied a statement which Sir Hamar Greenwood, chief secretary for Ireland, is reported to have made in the House of Commons yesterday, to the effect that America no longer welcomed immigration from Ireland.

The United States has taken no action to stop or discourage Irish immigration, Mr. Davis said, and Irish immigrants who can meet the entrance requirements are welcomed.

CAUGHT WITH A HEN PHEASANT

A well known resident of the city while engaged in hunting pheasants this morning was caught with a hen pheasant in his hunting coat by Game Protector Fred DeWitt. The officer was patrolling over the flats between Kingston and Katrine. The case will be disposed of later.

The law permits the shooting of male pheasants, and the open season for such is the last two Thursdays in October and the first two Thursdays in November. The limit is three birds to one person for the season. The penalty for shooting hen pheasants is $50.

BRITISH RAIL MEN SERVE ULTIMATUM

If Government Does Not Move to End Coal Strike By Saturday They Will Tie Up Railroads—Transport Workers Come To No Decision.

By Telegram to The Freeman. London, Oct. 21.—Unless the coal strike is settled by Saturday or the government has renewed negotiations on a favorable basis, the railwaymen throughout Great Britain will go on strike in sympathy with the miners, it was officially announced this afternoon by the Federation of Railwaymen.

The following statement was issued following an all-day meeting of officials of the National Union of Railwaymen: "Unless the strike is settled or the government renews its negotiations on a favorable basis by Saturday, a strike (of railwaymen) will be called in England, Scotland and Ireland." The Welsh railway employees have already signified their willingness to go on strike at once in support of the mine strike.

There was a turbulent meeting of officials of the Federation of Transport workers at which some speakers advocated an immediate strike in sympathy with the miners. Robert Williams, the secretary, said that the miners demands had been approved and held justified by both the "triple alliance" and the Trade Union Congress.

The demands should be conceded at once," declared Williams. "If 50,000 or 100,000 transport workers are idle that will exert strong influence upon other workers. The issue should be met and be settled rather than drift along without a rudder as we have been doing."

London, Oct. 21.—Extension of the national coal strike to the British railways hung in the balance today when officials of the National Union of Railwaymen met to discuss the whole strike situation.

J. H. Thomas, secretary of the National Union of Railwaymen and leader of the conservative faction which has been seeking a basis for peace negotiations, admitted the situation was serious and that railwaymen might join with the transport workers in a sympathetic strike. Union leaders spoke hopefully of mediation, hinting that a conference between the coal strikers and the government might be expected soon, but despite this optimism there were no surface indications that the strikers and the government were any nearer peace than they were on Monday. No avenue of approach for conciliation had developed over night.

Even conservatives among the labor leaders admitted that the prospect of averting a spread of the strike to the railways and docks seemed slight. If the railmen and the transport workers definitely decide to stop work, the strike order will probably be effective on Saturday.

No action has been taken by either side on the proposal by William Brace, leader of the South Wales strikers, that a wage increase of two shillings per shift be granted to the miners pending a review of the whole controversy by a joint board with the miners, mine owners, government and public representatives.

Train schedules were further reduced and more factories closed during the past 24 hours. The press pointed out that it was a hopeful sign that there had been very little violence, although the strike had been in effect nearly five days. Only two outbreaks of violence had been reported up to this morning and both were in the same locality in Wales.

NO WILSON ACTION In Matter of Governor Hobbs's Telegram

By Telegram to The Freeman. Washington, Oct. 21.—President Wilson has taken no action on the telegram from Governor Hobbs of Texas, urging that haste be made in the matter of extending recognition to Mexico, it was stated at the White House today. The governor's telegram was received this morning.

Secretary Colby conferred with the president of the telegram and it is understood he was ready to give the president a report on the present standing of the Mexican situation.

Irish Town Raided. Dublin, Oct. 21.—The town of New Castle was raided early today by a band of men wearing British military police uniforms. A woman and a girl were forcibly removed from their home which was looted.

Woman Taken Across Boundary. Boston, Oct. 21.—Several hundred striking Irishmen delivered a woman to their own town. They had been on strike four weeks. The woman, who was taken across the boundary, was taken to work as the same as they worked under when the strike was ordered.

PRICE STABILITY TO COME SLOWLY

A statement regarding current market conditions, general business outlook and credit situation by the National Bank of Commerce of New York says:

The downward revision of prices continues to be the factor dominating the general business outlook. The movement is a natural and inevitable corrective of the unstable condition created in the previous period of rising prices, reckless public buying and widespread speculation. Falling prices are not a recent development. Before the close of 1919 the prices of a number of important commodities had begun to decline. By spring of 1920 a definite downward trend had been established. Since then the movement has been accelerated, until within recent weeks it has forced general recognition that the period of excessive buying at rising prices has definitely ended. Business must now go forward on a lower price level. This readjustment cannot be effected without embarrassment in individual cases. It will be effected, however, without serious general results by reason of the inherent strength of the credit situation and the assured cooperation of the banks with business.

The banks are amply prepared to finance business while it is working out a more normal basis of operation and a stable level of prices. This process will require the employment of a large volume of credit. Inventories cannot be disposed of abruptly in many lines owing to general indisposition to buy; their liquidation must be effected very gradually. Meanwhile, they must be financed. The long run effect of the downward price movement, however, will be to ease the credit situation. The freedom from disturbance with which the readjustment is effected depends largely on the willingness of business to recognize the changed conditions.

Stabilization on a new price basis does not involve a return to the prewar price level. For nearly two decades prior to the war, prices had been rising steadily. On economic grounds this rise might reasonably have been expected to continue, had there been no war. Moreover, the improvement effected in our credit and banking machinery since the inauguration of the Federal reserve system now enables a given gold reserve to finance a greater volume of business at higher prices than was practicable in the prewar days. The country's present gold reserve greatly exceeds the prewar reserves, and this enlarged and concentrated gold reserve will have a sustaining influence on the new price level. The actual level at which prices will be stabilized can only be worked out gradually on the basis of actual transactions over an extended period.

$45,000,000 STATE SOLDIER BONUSMINORS APPROVE LASKER PLAN

In Preparation To Be Voted On Nov. 2.—Provision For Payment of $10 For Each Month Man Was In Service

One proposed constitutional amendment and a proposal for a state bond issue of not more than $45,000,000 to pay bonuses to ex-service men will be voted upon at the general election on November 2, and information concerning them has been distributed in pamphlet form by the Board of Elections at the registration places.

The proposed amendment changes Sections 2, 4, 5, 11 and 12 of Article VII of the State Constitution and is designed primarily to facilitate the borrowing of money by the state on short term notes to meet its obligations in anticipation of the receipt of taxes. The change in Section 2 prescribes the method of contracting such state debts, the issuance of bonds and obligations for them and the payment of interest.

The change in Section 4 limits the creation of certain debts and the payment of interest to those authorized by a vote of the people and provides for the time and manner of submission and the time and manner of payment. Section 5 provides for the continuation of sinking funds to pay interest and principal of debts heretofore contracted and directs the State Controller to appropriate securities held by the respective sinking funds at their fair market value and to report to the legislature each year.

Section 11 directs the legislature to provide appropriations for sinking funds to care for all state debts, except its short-term securities, and authorizes the Controller, in the event of the legislature's failure to do so, to set aside the necessary amounts out of the first revenues received and requires him to do so on the suit of any interested bondholder.

Section 12 provides that bonds heretofore authorized for the improvement of highways shall be created only after a favorable vote of the people.

The proposal, or "proposition No. 1," as it will appear on the ballot, is whether the state shall issue bonds to the amount of not more than $45,000,000 to pay a bonus to each resident of the state who served in the army or navy during the war. The proposal provides for a payment of a bonus of $10 for each month or major fraction thereof of service, with a provision that no single payment shall exceed $250, and that officers above the grade of captain in the army or lieutenant, senior grade, in the navy, shall not be entitled to any bonus. Provision is made for a commission to distribute the money and for the establishment of a disability fund.

HARTSHORN CUT COST OF LIVING

By Skill and Intelligence in Operating the County Poor Farm he Produced $4,000 Worth of Surplus (Crops).

WILLIAM S. HARTSHORN.

Among the men who have made good in public office in Ulster county is William S. Hartshorn, who is seeking re-election as county superintendent of the poor on the Republican ticket.

Mr. Hartshorn has made a remarkable record during the three years he has been in charge of the county farm at New Paltz. He was elected while the United States was at war and took office at a time when the cost of everything was going higher day by day and labor was becoming more scarce, but in spite of these handicaps he succeeded not only in maintaining the high standard of living for the county's unfortunate charges but actually reduced the per capita daily cost to the towns of maintenance of the inmates from 36½ cents in 1918 to 27 cents in 1919. This remarkable result was achieved by the most intensive farming ever undertaken in Ulster county, which resulted not only in filling the cellars, storehouses and barns of the county poor farm to their capacity but in addition provided a surplus of foodstuffs which were sold for the record-breaking amount of $4,000. This amount, when applied to the county budget, the support of the poor reduced the total amount necessary for poor purposes with consequent reduction of the per capita daily cost to the towns from 36½ cents to 27 cents. It is doubtful if the cost of anything else in Ulster county was reduced during the year 1919.

Three years ago the Republican party in Ulster county showed not only its appreciation of Mr. Hartshorn's long and honorable services, but also its intention of giving the public the benefit of his valuable experience by nominating him for the office of superintendent of the poor which for a number of years had been administered most efficiently and capably. The voters then by an overwhelming majority placed their approval on Mr. Hartshorn's record of public service and they have every reason to feel proud of the record he has made at the county poor farm during his first term.

Mr. Hartshorn was born May 26, 1864, in the town of Newburgh, Orange county, and is the son of Charles H. Hartshorn and Elizabeth Snyder, his wife. In 1887 he removed to the town of Plattekill, where he has since made his home. He was actively engaged in business there for a number of years, and for two years was connected with a large wholesale house in New York city. Later he purchased the store business of William H. Fowler at Plattekill, which he conducted for six years.

The implicit confidence placed in Mr. Hartshorn by those who know him is shown by his repeated election to public office, beginning with the office of town assessor, to which he was elected for one year to fill a vacancy. In 1897 he was elected justice of the peace and he continued to hold that office for ten years. Thereafter he was elected supervisor of his town for five terms—an aggregate of ten years—and during the last four years of such service he served as chairman of the board of supervisors. During his administration much important county legislation was formulated and adopted, and in all his dealings, both public and private, Mr. Hartshorn never has abused the confidence reposed in him.

Upon taking the office of superintendent of the poor three years ago Mr. Hartshorn was confronted with a serious problem on account of the rapidly rising cost of foodstuffs and materials of all sorts. He determined to maintain the high standard which Ulster county has insisted on in the care of its unfortunate poor, and conceived the idea of beating the high cost of living by increasing production. This plan, of course, was contrary to the general existing conditions by which production had lessened after the signing of the armistice. But Mr. Hartshorn is a practical farmer as well as a practical executive, and the result of his work was shown by the reduction of the per capita daily cost of maintenance from 36½ cents to 27 cents. During all this time he succeeded in keeping bills about normal.

Firm in the belief that "public office is a public trust," Mr. Hartshorn has shown in all his dealings that he is upright, conscientious and honest; a man of excellent judgment, careful in all matters, whether large or small, and a man of absolute integrity.

Socially, Mr. Hartshorn is a member of Plattekill Grange, No. 923, of which he is a charter member, and of Hudson River Lodge of Masons of Newburgh. He is a member of the Ulster County Farm Bureau, and for four years served as chairman of its agricultural committee, and also of the Ulster County Home Bureau.

Mr. Hartshorn married Elmira Deyo, daughter of the late Clinton Deyo of New Paltz, and has one son.

QUARRYVILLE REVIVAL.

Old Fashioned Evangelist Defies Forces of Evil.

Standing on top of the altar railing and daring all the forces of evil to "come on," Roy Muir, the snappy, peppy, old fashioned gospel preacher, opened the Tuesday night service at Quarryville. People had gathered from the entire countryside and men prevailed in the audience. He said: "We have been called into the Kingdom for a purpose—to win souls. I always call the higher critics, higher crickets. The Bible is divinely inspired from cover to cover. Away with this satanic preaching that the Bible contains mistakes. Every church ought to be filled with worshipping people. In the midst of a faltering civilization, the Cross of Jesus stands untouched."

The choir overflowed into the audience and under the leadership of Russell Kauffman sang as a special song "Keep a Song in your heart." Kauffman sang a very beautiful solo "Will you not try to win someone." Saturday night the booster choir gives a special program.

County Sunday School Convention. The annual Ulster County Sunday school convention will be held in the Albany Avenue Baptist Church, October 25 and 26, Monday afternoon and evening and Tuesday morning and afternoon. Prof. J. B. Burgess of Albany and Prof. A. S. Goodrich of Newburgh will conduct the meetings, with illustrated lectures. Plans for all of the county schools will be arranged.

FARMERS GIVE HARDING LEAD

Farm Journal Straw Vote Shows Farmers Strong For Harding Except in Indiana And Illinois.

Philadelphia, Oct. 21.—Harding is going to sweep the farmer vote of the country into his presidential basket if the returns in the Farm Journal straw ballot tell a true story.

Out of 13 pivotal states from which returns have come, Harding has polled approximately 70% of the farmer vote, with the balance split between Cox, Debs, and the Farmer-Labor party. In Minnesota 96% of the votes are for Harding and only in Indiana and Illinois does there appear to be any considerable division of opinion. Cox has polled 45% of the ballots in Indiana to date, and 48% of the votes in Illinois.

Whether its straw votes indicate the preference of farm women as well as men, the Farm Journal is not prepared to state. For years it has conducted a straw ballot among the farmers of the country and never failed to pick the winner. In 1916 Wilson was indicated as winner by a small margin, and California, which ultimately decided the issue, had given Wilson a small majority in the Farm Journal ballot.

This year California is going 71% for Harding in the test vote. Whether the women on the farm will share the views of the men-folks remains to be seen. The returns up to date are as follows:

	Harding	Cox
New York	64%	36%
Pennsylvania	66%	34%
Ohio	74%	26%
Indiana	55%	45%
Illinois	54%	46%
Michigan	71%	29%
Wisconsin	73%	27%
Minnesota	96%	4%
Iowa	86%	14%
Missouri	71%	29%
Kansas	94%	6%
Nebraska	90%	10%
California	71%	29%

Copy book machines are good things to have in your mind occasionally. The one at the head of this advertisement is a good one to consider with reference to your coal pile this winter. 1920 XMAS SEALS IN NEW DRESS

The Christmas seal stamps this year will bear the double barred cross, the emblem of the National Tuberculosis Association instead of the usual Red Cross, as the American Red Cross, having assumed new activities and responsibilities, has transferred its sponsorship of the seal to that association. The usual Christmas campaign will be carried on in nearly all sections the entire month of December, and the quota for New York state is $582,000. The proceeds from the sale of the stamps will be for the work carried on by both local and state committees, and for the state share toward the support of the National Tuberculosis Association.

WEST PARK

West Park, Oct. 21.—The West Park Neighborhood Association gave a very successful dance at the school house last Friday evening. Mrs. Gruninger's orchestra of Kingston provided delightful music and everyone enjoyed themselves thoroughly. The Neighborhood Association of West Park is a community organization and has been in existence for several years, accomplishing much good work along civic lines as well as providing good, wholesome entertainments, always carefully planned and worked out by efficient committees, a series of which are to be given during this fall and winter at intervals of not more than two weeks apart. The next one will be a card party, with prizes this evening, and on Saturday night, October 23, a Halloween entertainment or home talent will be given by the chairman of the entertainment committee, Mrs. R. W. Spencer. A children's drill in costume will be a special feature. Also good music, consisting of violin, piano and vocal selections will help make up the program. West Park has proved that a community organization works successfully and its influence is helpful to young and old. Making money is not the object of community work, careful and prudent financing is essential. Within the last month we bought a fine piano and paid for it by private contributions without taking a cent from the treasury. What little money burdens our treasurer is used only for civic and neighborhood work and some day, perhaps in the near future, our careful financing will be rewarded by our owning our own community house.

Condensed Fruit Juices in each Jiffy-Jell Dessert

Remember how Jiffy-Jell excels the old-time quick gelatin desserts.

Jiffy-Jell is a real-fruit dainty, rich in fruit. We crush the fruit, condense the juice and seal it in a vial. You get the delights and healthfulness of fruit, not a mere fruity taste.

The fruit is plentiful. We crush, for instance, half a pineapple to flavor one dessert. This is done in Hawaii—fruit too ripe to ship. The fruit alone might cost you as much as the whole dessert.

This is most important. People need fruit daily—real fruit, not mere flavor. Jiffy-Jell serves it in delicious form, with a moment's trouble, at a trifling cost. Join the millions who enjoy it. Start this week and send the trade-marks for the molds we offer free.

Eight Fruit Desserts

Eight fruit desserts are placed at your constant call. A package serves a family and costs a few cents only.

The desserts are light, as desserts should be. They are rich in needed fruit. And nothing is more welcome.

Jiffy-Jell comes ready—sweetened. It comes acidulated with lemon or grape acid. Simply add boiling water, as directed on package, then the fruit essence from the vial and let cool.

Made with style-B-mold

A package serves six. In mold form, or 12 if you whip the jelly. And it usually costs less than the fruit we use would cost you.

Mint Jiffy-Jell

Is rich in mint. Serve with roast meats or as a side dish.

WILLIAM B. MILLER, CIVIL WAR HERO WELL KNOWN HERE, DEAD AT BATH

WILLIAM B. MILLER, DRUMMER BOY IN CIVIL WAR.

William B. Miller, formerly of this city, who died at Bath, N. Y., on October 10, was a drummer boy in the 109th N. Y. State Volunteers during the Civil War. When about 11 years and ten months of age, Miller, who had run away from his home at Albany following the soldiers, was enlisted in a regiment in one of the Southern States, said to have been North Carolina, which was the only Federal regiment in the South, being enrolled as a drummer boy. The soldiers while being taken across a river on a raft were about killed off by grape and canister and there being only the drummers and a few members of the regiment, or company, left. It was disbanded. Miller then followed soldiers and finally got into Maryland, where he was adopted by Drum Major Purdy into the 109th New York Regiment, and was given a drum and a uniform and enlisted in the regiment. He stayed with Major Purdy until the close of the Civil War and was taken to Bath, N. Y. Major Purdy's home, where he was taught to read and to play the snare drum skillfully. Later Miller joined the regular army and assisted rounding up the Indians that massacred Custer. He later for a number of years was drummer in the Soldiers' Home band and orchestra at Bath, and leaving there became a bill poster, traveling with a circus, then became stage manager of the Bath Opera House, from where he came to Kingston and for several years was bill poster and stage manager of the Kingston Opera House, bringing his family here. His son, George Miller, was a printer and was employed at the office of The Freeman uptown. He was also a musician, conducting the band at Kingston Point Park for two seasons. He died a few years ago, being a clerk in the Kingston post office at the time. Another son, Guy, was for several years clerk at Thing's shoe store, North Front street, and now is manager of the company's large store at Troy.

ARTICLE X TAKES UP COX'S TIME

Article That United States Can Always Formulate Its Own Policy and Denounce Campaign of "Misrepresentation"—Explains League Machinery in Detail.

By Telegram to The Freeman.

En Route With Governor Cox, Wilmington, Del., Oct. 21.—Article X of the league of nations covenant today occupied Governor James M. Cox to the exclusion of nearly everything else. He branded as "deliberate misrepresentation" the contention of opponents of the league who seek to prove that the constitutional right of congress to declare war is abrogated by that provision of the covenant and quoted freely from various "authorities" to prove his charge.

Even Senator Harding "on one of those rare occasions when he has been permitted to stray away from the front porch unchaperoned, admitted the league of nations could not call the United States into war without the consent of congress," Cox declared.

Defining Article X as a statement "in parliamentary language" of the biblical injunction, "Thou Shalt Not Steal," the governor said it was put into the league covenant as a curb on "national cupidity" and insisted it was vital to the league.

"Territorial grand larceny," he asserted, "has been one of the most prolific causes of war." He took up in detail the processes of the league machinery, and sought to show that rarely, if ever, would it be necessary for the league to resort to "drastic measures" to enforce its decrees "and then only with the consent of the constitutional authorities of the member nations."

To say that the league could declare war is to say that it is in violation of our own constitution and those of most of the forty-three nations which are new members of it, Cox contended. Then he quoted from an opinion of the American Bar Association that "Article X is not in violation of the constitution of the United States" for power to declare war is not delegated.

"Some say that if the council has no authority to order military forces into the field in defense of the covenant," Cox continued, "the peace of the world would be no better secured with the league than without it. Such an inference would be entirely at variance with experience. Earl Grey, at that time the British secretary for foreign affairs, said in 1914 that if in the critical days of July and August he could have got the statements of the great powers around a table in conference for nine days, or nine hours, the world war would have been averted."

In case of a serious dispute between two nations, Cox said, the council of the league would endeavor to have the disagreement presented to the permanent court of international justice, the parties to the dispute agreeing to abide by its decision. If the matter were urgent they would attempt to settle the question by conciliation, the council acting as mediator. Failing this, all members of the council, except the disputants, would attempt to reach a unanimous agreement as to the course of action to be recommended. No recommendation would be possible, however, without a unanimous vote.

As a punishment for the offending nation, Governor Cox said, the council might send a joint diplomatic note condemning the action, might break off diplomatic relations, or as a last resort, might institute an economic blockade.

"It is extremely doubtful," he asserted, "if any nation would have the temerity to fly in the face of outraged public opinion of the whole world and it is a moral certainty that no nation would be so foolhardy as to try to live, let alone carry on effective warfare, in isolation."

In case of such a crisis as that of 1914, he said, the council would sit in special conference and if the council were unanimously agreed that drastic action was necessary, it would be empowered to make such a recommendation. The facts and recommendation would then be submitted to the president of the United States who would then lay them before congress. Congress, he said, would thereupon determine the course of action "just as it does now." If the action contemplated, Governor Cox continued, "is not approved by our representative in the council—either because his judgment is not in accord with the others, or because, after cable conference with the president and the congressional committee on foreign relations, he is convinced that this country would not endorse the recommended action—he would cast his vote in the negative and thus exercise the power of veto."

On the other hand, if he approved the action and voted with the others, the unanimous recommendation of the council would be cable to the several governments represented on the league council, our own, of course, included.

"We should never in the haze of wiggling statements and wobbling pronouncements lose sight of the incontrovertible fact that under Article X the council can render only advice, and that even this action can not be taken unless every representative, including our own, votes in the affirmative."

Furthermore, the fourth Hitchcock reservation, approved by President Wilson and voted down by the treaty wreckers in the senate, provides that in signing the covenant the United States relinquishes no part of her sovereign right "to determine her national duty," Cox said. "I want to state very emphatically," he added, "what I have repeatedly said, I am in favor of that reservation, or any similar reservation that will tend to assure the American people and at the same time remind all other members of the league of our constitutional limitations."

The governor arrived here this morning from Bridgeport, Conn. Following his address here, he left for Baltimore, where he will deliver afternoon and evening speeches.

No matter how black or threatening the outlook, keep working, keep visualizing your life dream, and some unexpected way will surely open for its fulfillment. The abiding faith in a power which will bring things out right in the end, which will harmonize discord, has always been strong in men and women who have done great things in the world.—Orison Swett Marden, in Chicago Daily News.

NEWS FROM THE FOOTBALL CAMPS

By Telegram to The Freeman.

Princeton, N. J., Oct. 21.—Mal Dickinson and Captain Callahan have today returned to the Princeton first eleven and the line is considerably stronger as a result. Another hard scrimmage was the order today in preparation for the navy. Annapolis, Md., Oct. 21.—Coach Fordwell today gave the Navy Scrubs orders to use Princeton picked up by navy scouts, against the first eleven. The make up of the team that will be sent against Princeton is still undecided.

Cambridge, Mass., Oct. 21.—More than 35,000 spectators will see Captain "Bob" McMillan and his Kentucky "Colonels" clash with Captain Arnold Horwood and his crimson football machine in Harvard Stadium Saturday afternoon. Exactly 35,000 tickets for the game had been distributed today and even these were insufficient to meet the demands.

Not since the days of the Carlisle Indian Harvard battles has there been such interest and enthusiasm in a mid-season game as there is in the Harvard-Centre contest. A wooden stand has been built at the mouth of the big concrete horseshoe, field seats, from the top of the inner stadium wall across and running back to the sidelines have been put up.

Both teams are primed for the battle. Coach Fisher today sent his varsity eleven into a fierce scrimmage with the scrub team. New Haven, Conn., Oct. 21.—Yale is preparing for another grueling contest with West Virginia Saturday. Texas practice was expected to determine if the chances in the line, increasing the weight of the defense would remain in force for Saturday. Captain Callahan is believed to be definitely out of the line for this week. The return of Jordan to the back field is expected to bolster up the Eli offense.

Syracuse, N. Y., Oct. 21.—Jimmy Frugone, a second string star, will start at quarterback for the Syracuse orange team against Dartmouth at Hanover Saturday. Frugone will replace Cowell, who was injured in the Pittsburgh game here. Coach Meehan of the orange team, has a high regard for the speed and judgment of Frugone, and expects he will be a power in running the signals and action of the ball in the game at Hanover. The Syracuse eleven, all members in excellent physical condition, and confident of a decisive victory over the Hanover warrior, left for Lebanon, N. H., last night, where they will remain and be put through light drills preparatory to Saturday's game at Hanover.

Washington, Oct. 21.—The addition of Daly at fullback, Hulme at end and Jones in the George Washington University line-up, today's practice is expected to greatly strengthen the team's chances against Villa Nova College here Saturday.

Baltimore, Oct. 21.—Coach Van Norman at Johns Hopkins made his final experiment today in switching his line-up for the Sparthmore game Saturday. Captain Ed Wood will probably be tried behind the line to help out Calkins, who has borne the brunt of the offensive work.

Pittsburgh, Pa., Oct. 21.—University of Pittsburgh players will have

GRAPE BUYERS LOSE $1,000,000

By Telegram to The Freeman.

San Francisco, Oct. 21.—Green grapes are not the same as ripe grapes.

The obvious truth of the statement is now corroborated by eastern grape buyers who, this season, suffered a loss of $1,000,000 because they could not be convinced that the green grape in no way resembles the ripe grape. The incident is an interesting chapter in the grape history of California vineyards.

The treasury department ruled that non-intoxicating cider and fruit juices may be made at home or at a custom mill, but must be used exclusively in the home.

The eastern grape buyers, deducing that the people, especially foreigners, in New York and other eastern cities would crush their own grapes according to the law and then allow them to ferment not according to law, came to California looking for grapes. The grapes were on the vine, and green. But that mattered little. Fancy figures and clamoring on the part of the buyers gave them the grape crop.

But the green grape has no sugar in it. Therefore it will not keep—even if refrigerated. The green grapes were shipped east and when they reached New York they were a total loss.

Now that the grapes are ripe eastern buyers are slow in making contracts. But E. M. Sheehan, president of the California Grape Growers' Association, believes that sooner or later the tide will change, and grapes will be in great demand, but not green.

DR. CHASE REMEMBERED

In Substantial Manner on 72nd Birthday.

The Rev. Dr. P. N. Chase celebrated his 72nd birthday on Wednesday. Among the pleasant congratulatory letters received was the following from his congregation at East Kingston, accompanying a check for a gratifying amount:

Dear Mr. Chase:—It is with deep regret that the people of East Kingston cannot in person present their congratulations to you. But wishes for many happy returns of the day, and many days of happiness to follow.

We bet to remain. YOUR CONGRATULATORS. Oct. 20, 1920.

PINE HILL.

Pine Hill, Oct. 20.—One person joined the Shandaken church last Sunday. We hope others will follow the good example.

The women of the Pine Hill M. E. Church raised $100 at their chicken supper. They need $50 more to pay for the electric lights which are now being installed in the M. E. Church this week. We thank all who have helped, and if you have not already handed in your gift do so and encourage the women in the good work.

The pastor has two more Sundays before he leaves Pine Hill. He expects to sail on the Celtic November 6 for his home in England. During his absence his pulpits will be supplied by very able preachers. Next Sunday his subject will be "The Work of the Lord." Try and be present. You can help us to help others.

"Birthright" At Opera House—Constance Talmadge At Keeney's.

At the Kingston Opera House Saturday matinee and night, A. H. Woods will present "The Girl in the Limousine" the successful farce which caused eight months of laughter and had a successful run both in Chicago and Boston.

Constance Talmadge trips lightly on the screen in a new and saucy picture "Two Weeks" with a bathing costume of moonbeams and midnight witchery at Keeney's tonight only.

"Goldie Locks" jumps the three crusty old bears in a play that is said to be just naughty enough to be nice—the story of a little show girl who spends two weeks unchaperoned in the home of three bachelors—scintillating with genuine humor and piquant, spicy fun, but never overstepping the border line of good taste.

Booth Tarkington's adventures and emotions of Edgar Pomeroy in "Edgar's Hamlet" is also programmed. Friday and Saturday Robert Louis Stevenson's "Treasurer Island," one of the mighty screen plays of the year, is the attraction and a special matinee has been arranged for the children at reduced admission prices for the children on Saturday morning at 10:30.

"Children Not Wanted" a story of the trials and tribulations of New Yorkers who have children and their efforts to find homes in the big city, is on at the Auditorium tonight, also a Kay Bee western thriller "The Half Breed's Sacrifice." Tomorrow Claire Whitney in "The Great Chamber Mystery."

THAT THE PUBLIC MAY KNOW

Senator Harding on Utility Service

Senator Warren G. Harding, Republican candidate for President of the United States, expressed some decided views on the public utility situation in an address before the American Electric Railway Association recently at Cleveland:

"The capital which seeks to render a necessary public service merits a square deal and must have it. Old time values are out of harmony in the new era of money's changed measurements. Stable financing, righteous earnings and just returns must be based upon a proper charge for the service rendered.

"I believe in strictest regulation without conflicting authority, because all public utilities must yield to the voice of public interests. But the same power that protects the public must protect the public service, whether that servant is capital or the workman who operates the utility.

"Destroyed credits must be restored and deficits credits of charges must be provided, so that the public may pay justly for that which it demands. * * * The public, which is served, has an obligation no less than that of those who serve it."
